Joint Performance of Whitesburg Hazard Ballet Classes Is Good

Those who missed the Ballet performance in Hazard Saturday night, missed a real treat—as the combination of the Whitesburg and Hazard classes was in peak performance, and although the Hazard group had only been tutored for this year, they showed that they had worked diligently and had had excellent training. There seemed to be much talent as performance after performance went on.

The Whitesburg group although short of many of their star performers, came through like veterans.

Ford Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago James Couzens, a young Detroit businessman, had a hard time persuading his sister, Rosetta, to invest $200 in a new kind of concern called an automobile company that was being organized by a man named Henry Ford.

Rosetta was skeptical. She didn't think Ford's gasoline carriage would amount to much. Finally, with great reluctance she agreed to let her brother risk $100 of her money, and not a penny more, in the wild scheme.

In the years that followed, Rosetta Couzens Hauss must have scolded herself for being so cautious.

From its start in 1903, Ford Motor Company became the most astonishingly successful industrial enterprise the world has seen. In 1919, after collecting $95,000 in dividends, Mrs. Hauss sold her $100 interest in the company to the Ford family for $260,000.

The tale of Mrs. Hauss' $100 and how it grew is one of the many colorful Ford stories that will be recalled by automobile men during the observance this year of Ford Motor Company's 50th anniversary. Prominent Americans from all walks of life will join with Henry Ford II, president of the company, and his employees in marking the anniversary at the Rouge headquarters in Dearborn, Michigan, and at manufacturing and assembly plants and sales offices all over the world.

Oldtimers also will remember the day in 1914 when Henry Ford promised to return between $40 and $60 to each customer who bought one of his cars during the next 12 months if sales in that period topped 300,000. A total of 302,213 Fords were sold. Fifteen and a half million dollars in $50 checks promptly went into the mail.

It was also in 1914 that Henry Ford rocked the financial world with his Five Dollar Day. The prevailing wage scale for factory workers at the time was $2.34 for a nine-hour day. When Ford announced that he would pay a minimum of $5 for an eight-hour day, bankers and businessmen thought he had lost his mind.

Ford contended, however, that higher wages would mean better business for the employer. Time proved that he was right.

These are just a few of the things that make the Ford Motor Company a great industry today, and one of the great industries that makes America great.

Ford Motor Company is celebrating its 50th Anniversary as one of the leading automobile makers in America.

TODAY'S MEDITATION FROM "THE UPPER ROOM"

"Thou shalt guide me with Thy counsel. (Psalm 73:24.)
Read 1 Peter 3:8-13.

I was born in a house, now known as 58 Middle Street, built in 1750 at Gloucester, Massachusetts. Daniel Rogers, my great-grandfather, had twenty-one children in this house. It was always said that as the doctor brought a new one in from the front door, Daniel Rogers sent one out the back door to make his living on the seas!

My father was a great believer in prayer for guidance. He learned that by listening to God he could get on the right "beam" and be headed in the right direction. This was as real to him as the magnetic force was to the ship captains of Gloucester in bygone sailing vessel days.

As a memorial to my father, I have installed in the Gloucester home a ship's compass in the center of the room where he taught me to pray. As ship captains use the compass to help bring them to port, this compass in my home serves as a reminder to me to keep God's invisible beam and be headed in the right direction.

PRAYER

O God, we know that Thou dost exist, that from everlasting to everlasting Thou art God. Thou are all-knowing, all-powerful, all-loving. We pray that Thou wilt guide us with Thy counsel. Give us the quietness and self-control to take time to listen to Thee. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go."

Statistician (Massachusetts)

Step-Mom Named "Mother of Year"

New York, April 23 — The 1953 American Mother of the Year turned out today to be a step-mother.

She is Mrs. Ethlyn Wise-garver Bott, 58, of Belleville, Ill., who successfully raised four motherless children after she married their widower father 20 years ago.

It was the first time in its nearly 25 years that the American Mothers Committee selected a step-mother for its annual honor. However, in the words of Mrs. Bott's youngest child, Pauline, 24, "She is in reality a step-mother, I guess, but she never has been or ever will be anything but a real mother to us." At her Belleville home, Mrs. Bott greeted the announcement "happily and humbly," very humble," she said. "The ideals which I have followed will continue to be followed."

"Our family," she explained, "really is no different from the family next door."

Mrs. Bott will receive her award at a Waldorf-Astoria luncheon here May 8.

The Mothers Committee works for dedicated American homes to the Golden Rule and for the installation of a spiritual quality in the nation's annual Mother's Day.

Its parent organization is the Golden Rule Foundation, which raises funds for benevolent projects and conducts educational research.

Each state selects its Mother of the Year. So do the district of Columbia, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii. Nominations are open to anyone and the selection is handled by a state committee from women's organizations in the states.

A national jury of prominent women then selects the American Mother from among the state choices.

To The Voters of District No. 8:

I have announced myself as a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace of District No. 8 and would like to take this opportunity to tell you a little about my life. I was born in Norton, Va., and raised up on Rockhouse in Letcher County. Since I reached manhood I have resided in Fleming and Haymond, Ky. My father's name was Elam Sexton and my mother's name was Victoria Sexton.

On September 10, 1951, I married the daughter of Uncle Wash Collins of Scott County. To this union there have been nine children, three deceased and six living. I am now an employee of The Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Jackhorn, Ky. I have been an employee of this same company for 30 years having worked at Fleming, Haymond and Jackhorn.

Twenty nine years ago I was converted at Haymond, Ky., and for the past twenty years I have been serving the people of Letcher County in the capacity of a Minister. I have served them to the best of my ability in their homes and in hospitals, in sickness and in death. For the past two years I haven't been physically able to support my family as they should have been, having spent part of this time in the hospital. I have devoted most of my time in funerals, visiting hospitals and caring for the sick. I have been called out of the mines many times and from my home at all hours of the night to try and comfort the afflicted. This has been a great pleasure to me. I have never before asked for any public office but now I am asking the good people of the 8th Magisterial District to nominate and elect me your Justice of the Peace so that I can do a greater work for the people and the Lord.

If you want a man that will do the right thing by everybody, please vote for Brother Robert Sexton. If elected, I will do all that is in my power to build and repair roads in this District. If some father or mother's boy or girl should be brought before me, I will not have them mistreated at any time, but will give them good fatherly advice and encourage them to do better. We all do wrong at sometime or other and I will send your children home whenever possible. I shall always strive to do the right thing. I promise you a clean, sober and efficient administration. So, I am asking the good people of District No. 8 to give a poor man a chance for one time. You will all be glad if you do. I now leave it up to the good people of this District to vote and elect me your Magistrate. I hope to see you all before election day.

Your friend,
—ROBERT SEXTON.

"NOT BITING" IS ONLY COMMENT FROM ANGLERS

Eld. James Wright of Payne Gap, County Clerk Charlie Wright and Deputy Sheriff Russ Young returned this week from a 3-day fishing trip at Hickory Star Dock on Norris Lake. When asked for their excuses for not bringing home the evidence, they just simply said, "Not biting!"

Activities At Blackey Grade School Exciting EIGHTH GRADE MAKES TOUR OF KENTUCKY

If all the stories that make a trip so funny could be published, chapter headings might read:

1. Catch me if you can (Hazard to Winchester).
2. Found a "Mail" Room—(State Capitol, Frankfort).
3. Mystery of White Man On Spring (Lincoln Mem.).
4. The Stout Lady at Mammoth Cave.
5. Steak on a lap (Cave City).

6. I can't Find my Worm, (Cumberland Falls).

Dear readers, this nonsense doesn't make sense to you, perhaps, but it does to the eight boys and girls and their chaperones who left Blackey Thursday morning, April 23 for their annual trip.

Mrs. Dexter Dixon and Mr. D. B. Barker visited Miss Martha Jane Potter who was in that time a patient in a Lexington hospital.

The next stop was the new and old capitals in Frankfort. The first night was spent at Wilson Tourist Court Bardstown. While at Bardstown Mrs. Lundy Adams took the girls to Nazareth Academy. After seeing My Old Kentucky Home, the group headed for Wayne Memorial and Mammoth Cave. The second night was spent at Lone Oak Tourist Court near Mammoth Cave. The last place of interest visited was Cumberland Falls.

Those making the trip were: Mary Z. Arnold, Billie Ann Cole, Lett Hatton, George Logan, Jack Portwood, Floretta Stamper, Glenn Stamper, Wayne Wheatley, Principal D. B. Barker, Mrs. Dexter Dixon and Mrs. Lundy Adams.

CLASS DINES AT PINE MOUNTAIN HOTEL

Other guests were: Supr. and Mrs. Dave Craft, Dr. Lundy Adams, board member, Dexter Dixon, president of the P. T. A. and Mrs. Joe Brakefield.

Twelve children received eighth grade diplomas at the Commencement exercises held at the school Tuesday, May 5, at 7:00 p. m. The program was as follows:

American Audience.

Salutatory—Mary Y. Arnold

Will—Glenn Stamper.

Valedictory — Billie Ann Cole.

Address—Rev. C. D. Wallace.

Presentation of Class — D. B. Barker.

Presentation of Diplomas—Dr. Lundy Adams.

Benediction — Rev. C. D. Wallace.

The use of the rose theme was carried out in the decorations was to express the teachers love for all Blackey school children and especially for those being promoted. The buds represented "budding talents in the class." A part suggestion given to the children was "If you want more roses, plant more trees."

The American Legion Poppy

On May 23, all over Kentucky, women and men carrying trays of artificial poppies will appear on the streets of many towns and cities. The flowers are not large, but they are the color of blood, and they appear in memory of those who have died on the battlefields in defense of America.

The poppies are cut, shaped and prepared by the hands of veterans who are in the hospitals. These flowers were made during long hours of confinement in wheel chairs and traction beds, through afternoons when pain and suffering relaxed their hold for a little, sometimes in spite of pain. And each red petal attached so firmly to its green stem is a grim reminder of blood shed for America and Americans.

So when someone approaches you on Poppy Day and pins this little flower on your lapel or dress with the words—"I pin this poppy on you in loving memory of the war dead" reach into your pocket or purse and contribute something for the poppy.

"In Flanders field the poppies blow"

Real poppies, that from earth do grow—

The earth that forms a loving bed

Soft cushion for the warriors dead.

These poppies blow a brighter red

On blood of heroes they are fed—

And bring a touch of beauty there

To lessen sadness and dark care.

On Kentucky's streets the poppies blow

Paper poppies that never earth did know

Creations of the torn and weak

Who faith with comrades bravely keep—

Who remember each day of the week

In walking hours or troubled sleep.

Wear proudly the emblem of sacrifice

It was purchased at a tremendous price.

Do you know this about telephone taxes?

You may not realize how large a part of the money paid by telephone users goes to taxes.

Including the federal excise tax, a total of 29¢ out of every dollar received from Southern Bell customers last year was paid out in taxes to federal, state and local governments. To put it another way, the average amount of taxes was $2.91 a month per telephone.

Telephone taxes are necessary to the support of government, but they do mount up. Higher taxes of course have effect on the price you pay for telephone service.

The next time you pay your telephone bill, remember that a good part of it is taxes for government and national defense.

SOIL CONSERVATION

(by John Jordan)

A community project on drainage has been surveyed near Isom for Orville Adams, B. H. Blair, and Gay Frazier. A one-half acre pond has been staked for Willie Hampton at cremiah. The pond will be fourteen feet deep in the deep-silt pond, etc. A one acre plot of sericea lespedeza will be placed under the pond and a water trough placed below the dam. Mr. Hampton plans to fence out the cattle and do away with the danger of drowning. Other good reasons for fencing out the cattle are: (1) they won't muddy the water (2) diseases won't be spread, (3) the banks of the pond won't become bare and silt the pond, etc. A one acre plot of sericea lespedeza will be sown on the Hampton farm.

The ditches that were staked for Bruce Baker at Colson haven't been dug yet, but he ran a plow furrow and shoveled one ditch from a road culvert. He says, "It's a sight to see how that one small ditch has dried up that bottom land."

Another chemical control demonstration was held on Ben Craft's farm on Millstone. Large beech and other small cull trees were killed with 2-4-5-T and Ammate. The demonstration can be seen from the road.

Several drainage jobs have been surveyed and now need to be constructed with a bulldozer. Anyone with a size D-6 Caterpillar or larger please contact the above mentioned men or myself. The dozer blade must be of the angle type to dig the drainage ditches.

'Bear' Facts-

By PAUL BRYANT
UK Football Coach

On the surface of the matter, it would seem to be a very far cry from sports in general and football in particular to the subject of entertainment at the big Blue Grass Festival held in University of Kentucky's Memorial Coliseum recently.

The Derby eve extravaganza featured movie stars Bob Hope, Judy Garland and Marilyn Maxwell along with the hit bands of Vaughn Monroe and Buddy Morrow in some mighty enjoyable chatter and music that I would highly recommend as being the next best thing to a good football game.

Funnyman Hope whose reactions and memory would make him a fine athlete, joked about the Coliseum as "the loveliest super-market I ever played in" and in the next breath praised it as a fine building. He didn't pull off any wise cracks about football, despite the fact that he is closely associated with the game as a stockholder in the professional Los Angeles Rams, but he did let out a little secret in a moment of seriousness.

The comedian revealed that he had been invited to lend his talents to the Kentucky football team as one of the rival coaches in the annual Blue-White intra-squad game scheduled for May 15 on Stoll Field. He was very apologetic in explaining that a tight schedule of previous commitments would prevent his appearance at the tilt for the benefit of the "K" club building fund. Income from the public game between evenly matched squads of Wildcat football players will be used to build a club house for the organization of UK varsity letter winners.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

It was indeed a pleasure to see you all at Mr. Adams' funeral. I did not get to converse with you as much as I desired but under circumstances there were so many whom I wanted to greet, I did not get back around.

The words of those who spoke in tribute to Mr. Adams were well chosen. He did a good work and was a good man. I wish we had more such.

I think they're planning a Home Coming again this year and a Pageant of the Founding of the school and you want to be here by all means. Come see us any time. I mean us! May the Lord bless you and yours and that showers of blessing and mercy drops may continue to fall all around you.

Thomas L. Britton.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have not been asked to say these few words. As a fair minded citizen I feel it my patriotic duty to say them.

Bill Adams has put his name before you for consideration as your county judge. As I think I know him it is my earnest desire to urge you to work and vote for Mr. Adams. I have sat by him, watched him, and worked shoulder to shoulder with him in our efforts to pass worthwhile legislation; I found him to be sober, honest, sincere, conscientious, and dependable. He is sympathetic of old age and all who are in need. The office of County Judge, to my way of thinking is the most important of any in a county. My motive is not that Bill may win in the election but far more; that a sound business administration of county affairs with a progressive forward step may be the result. This is to you who win just as well as Mr. Adams.

Yours for better conditions,
Thomas L. Britton.

A LETTER

To the Members of the Indian Bottom Regular Baptist Church, c/o Deacon R. B. Caudill, Dear R. B.

Through you I wish to thank all of you for the kindness you showed us in the death of my father, Dr. G. D. Ison.

I fully realize that it was from the goodness of your hearts and souls that permitted you to allow a funeral conducted by another church to be conducted in your own church. For this unselfishness and piety on your part we shall always be grateful.

My father was raised Old Regular Baptist and one of his final requests was for a Regular Baptist to be asked to say a prayer for his salvation.

In his last years, he was a devout christian and a student of the teachings of Jesus Christ. A month before he died he told me that he had malice toward no one and hoped that no one had any towards him. He was prepared to go.

With kindest of personal regards to you and your church, I am,
Bernard Ison,

DR. WILLIAM A. BENFIELD, JR. TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS AT STUART ROBINSON ON MAY 22ND

Stuart Robinson School is the most fortunate this year in having secured Dr. William A. Benfield, Jr., to deliver the Commencement address. Dr. Benfield is a busy man, and this is not the first time he has been asked to come to the school as a commencement speaker. However, on previous occasions other engagements prevented his coming.

Dr. Benfield is now pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church in Louisville. After completing work for graduation at Davidson College, he attended the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, receiving his B. D. degree from that institution in 1939. In 1939-40 he was pastor of the Beechmont Presbyterian Church in Louisville, after which he became Professor of Hebrew and Old Testament in the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary. He gave up his work in the class room to become Vice-President of the Seminary, and in 1949 accepted his present position as Pastor of the Highland Church.

Dr. Benfield holds two degrees from Davidson College, two from the Louisville Seminary, and one from the Southern Baptist Seminary. He is Co-Editor of "Understanding the Books of the Old Testament", and has served as Editor of the Young People's Departments' Christian Observer and the Sunday School Lessons for Young People, Presbyterian Church in the U. S. He is a Director of the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, a Trustee of Centre College, and a member of the Board of Annuitants and Relief in the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

As a speaker Dr. Benfield has served during seasons of Religious Emphasis at Louisiana State and the University of South Carolina, University of Kentucky, Centre College, Eastern State College, and Western College here in Kentucky.

A native of West Virginia, his family consists of Mrs. Benfield and two sons aged nine and twelve years. The graduating exercises at Stuart Robinson will take place on May 22 at ten o'clock in the morning. You are cordially invited to come out and hear Dr. Benfield.

FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHTER FOR EMERGENCY TEACHERS STATES SUPT. OF SCHOOLS DAVE L. CRAFT

A report on the school teacher shortage in Kentucky shows that 103 teachers in Letcher County have emergency teaching certificates.

The study, issued by the State Department of Education's Division of Teacher Education and Certification, shows that 2,803 public school teachers in Kentucky have less than standard certificates. The figure is an improvement over a year ago, when there were 2,971 emergency teachers.

There has been a steady decline in emergency certificates since the 1947-1948 school year, when there were 5,900 teachers employed on an emergency basis.

Of the emergency teachers in Letcher County this year, 99 are in the county system. There are four in the Jenkins system.

The study shows that of the state total of emergency certificates in use this year, 2,455 were issued to teachers in elementary schools, and that 17.7 per cent of Kentucky's elementary teachers have less than the required scholastic standing as teachers. At the high school level there are 343 emergency teachers—5.6 per cent of the total. The combined percentage for all teachers in Kentucky is 14.05.

Only 2.6 per cent of the emergency teachers have not completed some college work, while 15 per cent have college degrees or above. About half have completed two years of college.

According to Supt. Dave L. Craft these teachers all did not teach regularly but were used as substitutes in case of teachers illness etc.

Mr. Craft also stated that this year looked much brighter pertaining to the emergency teachers.

17 MEN TO REPORT FOR FINAL INDUCTION

Washington — The Bureau of the Census announced today that 3,762,315 persons reported in the 1950 census that they were born in Kentucky.

Of this total 2,551,430 were living in Kentucky and 1,210,885 were living in other states.

Outside Kentucky the largest number of Kentucky-born was living in Ohio, where 301,500 reported their Kentucky origin. Indiana had the second largest number of Kentucky-born residents with 215,740, and Illinois was third with 101,905.

AN ADDRESS BY THE LATE JUDGE R. MONROE FIELDS

AN EXTEMPERANEOUS SPEECH MADE BY HON. R. MONROE FIELDS AT A FAREWELL DINNER GIVEN HIM BY THE LETCHER COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION IN JULY, 1943 PRIOR TO HIS DEATH IN AUGUST, 1948, AT A TIME HE PLANNED TO LEAVE LETCHER AND RESIDE IN PIKE COUNTY TO BE JUDGE IN DISTRICT NO. 35.

Friends, members of the Bar Association, and guests: It would take me a long time to say what I think and would like to say and there is a great deal in my heart I think about the Bar of Letcher County and its people. I will say one thing that is out of my heart; it is one of the best bars in the State of Kentucky. It has often been mentioned to me the way the attorneys get along at our bar. There is no factions and fighting or ripping each other to pieces. It is the friendliest bar I know. In all other bars I have been in there has been some little feeling that makes things unpleasant. You don't have that feeling here.

A man has to measure up in my judgment and try cases in according to who may be on your side, but he has to do his utmost to try them right and that causes an honest judge to have to decide against his very best friend and sometimes against a man who has voted with you in an election. I decided a case over in Mr. Runyon's county and there was a man who had been my friend for several years. I felt I had to decide against him because he was wrong. The Court of Appeals upheld me and said he was wrong, but he never forgave me. I tried a case down here in my town, and I never have been bad to shun a case when I had no feeling in it, I decided a case between two of my neighbors and both of them got mad at me and one of them litigants doesn't speak to me but the other has got to be friendly. But those things don't change me. I have tried to be a friendly judge. As Judge Combs said, sometimes when judges don't feel well, and they have periods of illness, when a judge gets to feeling bad he is apt to get ill and nothing has hurt me worse than to find myself getting ill and snappy.

When I have done that I have always in my heart repented, and a few times when my conduct was unbearable I have felt it necessary to apologize and I have done that and felt good in doing it. They tell a story of General Washington who, in a fit of rage, knocked down one of his generals with his fist and the next day, in the presence of the army, he apologized and did it publicly. I have never liked insulting a man in public and apologizing in private. I lost my temper with Judge Childers who was our Commonwealth Attorney, and a good one. He belonged to one party and me the other—this Court has never played politics. I snapped him off and the next day when I had cooled off—I had repented all night—I apologized publicly and told him I was sorry. The Judge said, "You don't need to apologize to me. I was Judge for six years and never was in a good humor the whole time."

A Judge has lots of trials and hardships and either he goes out of his district or there comes a last time—and there will come a time when a lawyer will go into court for the last time, and the officers will meet him for the last time, and it is apparent to me now that that time has almost arrived for me with the Letcher County Bar, at least my last time with you as your Judge. I will soon be done here.

It is true I am going to be out of court a few days the last of this term, but I am happy to know the Court will be in good hands. I have been told my old friend, Astor Hogg, will be the special Judge and I am sure he will go on with the work as well as I can. He was reared at the mouth of Kings Creek and I was born and reared upon the creek. In early life we spent a great deal of time together and in later life he lived next door neighbor to me and I spent a good deal of time with him. But there came a last time to that and we had to break up that situation. I have always had a feeling for Astor. I hope you will pardon me for calling him by his first name. To me he is Astor and those days were mighty fine days.

I have spent some of the best days of my life in my old home, but during the misfortunes of life I got caught in the squeeze that left me nothing with much of this world's goods. But the people who owned the property have been kind to me and I have lived there, I never had to get out. But the time has come when I must do one of two things—I must go out of office or follow up my district. The reason I want out of court here these last two weeks, I am tired, but the main thing that compels me to do this is that my children are coming.

I hope you all will excuse me (for his tears). My children have visited me every year in my old home and like my associations with the bar and the courts of this county, these two weeks will be our last time in the old home. We are giving it up. I have spent the best years of my life trying to make you a good officer. You had the best I had in me, whether it be good or bad, it was the best I knew. While I feel that I haven't a great many more years anywhere, I am not bothered about that. I have lived a long life. My wife said the other day, "we are getting old." We are not old but we are getting old. My life is pretty well lived. I realize that I have a feeling of sadness when I go away from you good people of Letcher County to make my home elsewhere. I am sorry I couldn't talk to you without any show of emotion, but my heart was heavy. There is no people I love any more than the people of Letcher County and when I go away, I go away without an ill feeling toward a soul on top of this earth. I have found that if someone doesn't like you as he should, life is too short to hold malice.

I have hoped and still have hope—I have no thought of running for office again—I have hoped to spend the last years of my life in the practice of law. I enjoy the practice of it and I could make a great deal more money than I have in holding office but I would like to have a few years of my life in the practice of law. When my term of office is out, if my health holds up, I would like, if I could have my way about it, to die in the harness. I want to work as long as I live and want to be of use to my fellowman. I made up my mind when I was a boy about fifteen I wanted to be a lawyer. I read law books from then on. I married the profession. I love it. It is a place where you can serve humanity and regardless of whether the returns are what they should be, a man still has a chance to do something for his fellowman. As I say, I hope to have a few years, when my term goes out to practice law.

I am leaving one of the fairest bars in the state when I leave here. There comes a time when you can get an opponent at an disadvantage. I have never seen a member of this bar take an advantage of that kind. Our old friend, Doug Day, that used to be with us, I always thought he was one of the fairest lawyers I ever saw. He got in a suit about his home and through some oversight failed to prepare his papers and he would have lost his home. I couldn't help but remember the fairness he had shown to other lawyers, and I gave him a chance to get his papers in shape. In the trial of cases we should not forget that justice and fair play is the most important thing. No lawyer has a right to win unless it is just. I have always said a lawyer that gets everything his clients is entitled to will go down as a great attorney and he ought to be satisfied with that. A man shouldn't take something from his client that he would not take as a man. Abe Lincoln had the right idea; he said, "If a man made up his mind that he could not be honest and be a lawyer, let him make up his mind to be honest and not a lawyer." Ours is a great profession and lawyers handle lots of money for their clients and they are not under bond, and it is the last thing you ever heard of having a lawyer to not deal honestly with his client. I like the members of the legal profession. I love it. I like to serve you people. You elected me. I am rambling along here, talking out of my heart, but I have enjoyed serving you and one other thing that may be a source of pride to me was the fact that both political parties named me as a candidate.

The Lord knows I have tried to try cases on their merits and not take into consideration friendship or anything else and both parties realized that. And a great source of pride to me was to look back on that.

Now, I must say some "good-bye," I couldn't say it now, but it is getting close to the last time. I thank you.

The next time you find yourself alongside a new Cadillac at the traffic light—take a good look at the gentleman behind the wheel.

The odds are overwhelming that you'll see a man relaxed and at ease.

For serenity is part and parcel of the great experience of driving a 1953 Cadillac. In fact, owners frequently take to the highway just for the relaxation the car provides.

And well they might. For here, beyond all question, is one of the surest therapeutics for the tension of work-a-day life!

Just sitting there in the driver's seat is enough to put a man at ease. The cushions are deep and luxurious and restful... the wheel is perfectly positioned for the driver's hands... and beauty and comfort and spaciousness are in every direction.

And driving a Cadillac is as restful as sitting in a Cadillac.

That great, powerful engine responds as if by magic... carrying the car in and out of traffic almost as quickly and as easily as the driver makes his decision to do so. Steering is feather-light and effortless... and braking calls only for the slightest pressure from the faintest foot.

Of course, if the driver has chosen a Cadillac Air Conditioner* for his car, he refreshes as he relaxes. With a simple adjustment of a single lever, he can lower the car's interior to any normal temperature he desires—even in the warmest weather.

Yes, it's little wonder that the man in the Cadillac always looks so comfortable and happy and relaxed. In plain fact—he is!

Wouldn't it be wonderful to find such satisfaction in your own motoring? Of course it would—and that's why we suggest that you come in for a personal demonstration.

We'll gladly put you behind the wheel—for the most relaxing hour you ever spent on the highway.

KENTUCKY

"I stand upon a Kentucky hill And grasp the beauty of the land; Below the lazy river runs, Through a channel of God's own hand.

Across the way the woodlands grow, Gigantic trees that pierce the sky; Shade the traveler, wayside resting With this vastness how small am I.

Where I stand the breezes blow, Whispering the lore of years ago; Exciting tales of the Indians' way, This land, their own Manitou.

With eager mind I listen well, For the names of Boone and Clark;

These men made Kentucky rise; Though the days were sad and dark.

Dear State be proud, bow to none, Yet lend not to strife or hate;

Hold high the banner of freedom, For free men are noble and great."

THE GINGSENG DIGGER OF LONG AGO

When the springtime came, he took out his hoe; This gingseng digger of the long ago;

For his garden was empty and he had no dough; But a kinder hearted man you never could know.

It was a long winter, and he hardly got by; But he keeps his promise and he does not lie. He don't swear or steal, and he never drinks rye; Take him all the way 'round, he's a pretty good guy.

No Social Security back there in his time, But he fed his family and it was no crime To eat "poke salad" when you hadn't a dime, And couldn't afford living the life sublime.

His heart was lightest when he dug for the root; For fine clothes and society he didn't give a "hoot". He wasn't preaching Socialism; he was always mute; But he was no man's fool, he was quite astute.

His philosophy of life was a simple one, As he roamed the hills with his hoe and gun. But you must not think that he didn't have fun, And so did his wife, and daughter and son.

With the earth beneath and the sky above His journey through life was a labor of love. He didn't work by the clock or push or shove; His freedom was the peace of a turtle dove.

Might we not take a lesson from this gingseng digger? Each year our problems get bigger and bigger. Our nerves are on edge and we are "easy on trigger" We don't set down on a log to relax and figure.

No doubt about it...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Load-master engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Reforestation of idle land in Kentucky is becoming big business. About three million trees were planted this spring. Making the baby trees from seed requires much careful attention. The state nursery being developed near Dawson Springs (above) will ultimately produce 5 million seedlings a year.

Machines like the one below can plant about 10,000 trees per day on idle land. Three machines are kept in operation near the nursery at Pennyrile Forest State Park during the planting season.

—ARTHUR T. BANKS.

The most important thing a person can do to protect his insurance rights under the Social Security Act is to make sure that his social security account number is recorded correctly on reports of his earnings. Thomas Thompson of the Hazard field office of the Social Security Administration said today.

He pointed out that it is advisable for a person to compare the account number shown on his own records, such as payroll receipts, tax withholding statements, his self-employment income tax return, etc., with the number shown on his social security account-number card. If there is a discrepancy, he should get it corrected, otherwise he may not receive all the social security credit he should for such earnings, Thompson explained.

An individual's own personal records of earnings are of increasing importance, Thompson said, because of a feature in the law, known as "regularity of employment tests." These tests apply in cases of employment on farms and in domestic households. Work must have been performed on a certain number of days and a certain amount paid in cash wages in a given period for these wages to be covered by law. So, in the event a wage earner does not agree with the amount reported for him, it will be much easier to establish whether he has a right to such credit if he has his own records of time worked and wages paid.

Thompson said that a worker may check on the status of his social security account at any time. He should do so at least once every three years. If he does not agree with the amounts shown, he should take his own records and the statement to the nearest Social Security Administration field office for assistance in getting the account reconciled. A simple post card form for requesting such a statement is available in any social security field office. Thompson declared. If you would like to take advantage of this service simply address your request to Social Security Administration, Post Office Bldg., Hazard, Ky., and the post card form will be sent you free by return mail.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the many friends and relatives who stood by my mother in the sickness and death of my dear step father Charlie Kiser, who died the 26th day of March, 1953. I wish to thank everyone who said a comforting word, and to those who brought flowers. Also the doctors and nurses of the Fleming Hospital who did all they could for him, and to the Craft Funeral Home who was in charge of the funeral and burial who mother said was so kind and good. I wish I could have been there with him and to help my mother, but I was drafted into the Army two weeks before his death and did not get to come home to see him.

Again I want to thank those who stood by my mother and sisters and brothers and my step brothers and sisters, during their great sorrow. We will miss our good father, but we know our loss is heaven's gain.

I wish all my friends would write me.

Thank you all,
Elijah A. Profit, US

Blades of Bluegrass

—by J. Allan Smith—

This being a day off from the office, my wife set me to dusting books. In my experience, books always need dusting, but these were in special need. The floors had just been sanded — and tack up sheets as you will, the dust finds its way to the books. And so, armed with a soft-bearded attachment for the vacuum cleaner and a fluffy mitt treated with a concoction of some sort with a special affinity for dust, and a comfortable stool and an old newspaper to protect the bindings from the newly finished floor, or vice versa, I resigned myself to the task.

Now for anyone who'll take a minute's thought it is immediately clear that the most efficient book-duster must perforce be illiterate—the more completely illiterate the better. For who, if he once has tasted the sweet and stirring stimulation, the take-me-out-of-myself power hidden between the covers of a book, can handle the volumes without an occasional pause to peep inside? Novels, poetry, essays, history, biography — one by one they called up old memories and awakened new desires.

A book unopened may be a cold and unpossessing thing; it may stand on the shelf year in and year out unread — and yet it is there always, awaiting the willing eye. And yet in the making of the book, how much toil and care, how many sleepless hours, how much agonizing over the choosing and discarding and recasting of materials, how much hope and how much pride went into it? A book is a part of the life of the author.

Take, for example this book in bright blue binding and gold lettering—"Birds of Kentucky," by J. D. Figgins. Some books are called tragedies by reason of the materials they contain; this is a tragedy by reason of its experience as a book. I knew the author. He was a nationally recognized naturalist and museum curator, retired, and commissioned by the University of Kentucky about seven years ago to write a "definitive" work on the birds of the state. Into this book he put the last several years of his life, hard and painstaking work, much of the time under a burden of almost unbearable pain from incurable cancer. He looked upon it as the crowning work of his life, a moment to his efforts. He died before the book appeared; details of publishing were attended to by his wife and his friend, W. D. Funkhouser, naturalist of the University of Kentucky. The book appeared; copies were sent out to the trade for review—and then, after only the first trickle of orders had been filled, the warehouse where the books were stored burned, and the entire edition was lost. And so the book is a tragedy.

But on with the dusting! We can't stop to look at every book.

The Pine Mountain Missionary

—by John R. Isaac—

Perhaps, the most interesting news of this article this week is—we have decided to have two weeks of camp on the top of Pine Mountain. The first camp will be for boys on June 15-19 and the girls camp will follow on June 22-26. The cost of the camps will only be $5.25 for each camp. The 16 churches should be getting ready to send their campers, for the time will soon be here.

We hope each church will get a food shower ready for the camps and that it will be ready to be picked up by June 11-12, by a truck or cars. If the camper can bring his own eat, then that would help out the one who could not. We will give more definite information in this article as the time draws near. Application blanks will soon reach the campers.

The definite plans of the soft ball league have not been worked out yet, but they will be worked out soon. The ages of the teams will be the same as of the basketball games. The teams which are ready can be practicing so that they will be ready for a good start. Now, a thought for the week —Who suffers when people do wrong? First of all, I have never seen a person win a fight by getting into a personal fight. Second principles are the main issue rather than people. If we could only decide upon what is right and what is wrong then many fights would be avoided. Let us do right regardless of anything else, and let us be willing to accept the right and cast aside the wrong.

So often, the people who are hurt the worst are not the ones in the actual fight—Often it is the innocent child, who is robbed of his opportunities in life. What if the child does not get the best in his school life while he is of school age. He has lost that opportunity forever, and who is to blame. We as adults must not fumble the ball.
